

Columbia Association of Puppeteers

January, 2007 Newsletter

The CAP January, 2007 Meeting will be Thursday, January 25th at 7:00 p.m.
at The Olde World Puppet Theatre Shop
906 SE Umatilla St (in Portland's Sellwood District)

Call 503-233-7723 for directions

See their Winter decorations (yes, they leave them up for a LOOOONG time, and they're quite spectacular), and see the progress on one of the sets for their movie.

Come on CAP members, let's turn out for this meeting. Attendance at the October and December meetings was less than crowd making, Even attendance at the Barbeque was thinner than a veggie hot dog! We're wondering if you are all still interested in having meetings every month.

If the weather God (or Goddess) cooperates, what better way to spend a cold Winter's night than by bundling up and venturing out for a few hours of camaraderie and good fellowship.

Tears of Joy Theater Presents The Shoemaker and the Elves

Feb. 2-18, 2007

You did not know that elves like cheesecake?! Frankie and Gino sure do! And if it weren't for piles of creamy cakes and a little elfin magic, Mel Footmeyer would be closing up his shoe shop. He and his wife Tootsie owned the store for 42 years, but the shoe trade has slowed to a crawl. Watch as these misplaced elves come to the rescue. Expect some exciting guest appearances and swinging big band music to keep your toes tapping! Performance times are Saturdays at 11:00 a.m., Sundays at 2 p.m. and 4 p.m.

DRUNK PUPPET NIGHT

(not for kids)

DPN is a celebration of all that is holy and unholy in puppetry. Once or twice a year (more or less) the mad geniuses of Monkey Wrench Puppet Lab and their twisted friends pull out all the stops! This ain't kid stuff!

Some of the most creative and talented puppet artists in Seattle, Portland, and Eugene premiere their shows here.

Someday Lounge, 125 NW 5th Avenue, Portland,
Thur. Feb 1 - Sat. Feb.3, @ 8 pm.

For ages 21 and over, $15 general admission.
