March, 2003 Newsletter

Our next meeting will be SATURDAY, March 22 at 7:15 p.m. at the Winningstad Theatre, 1111 SW Broadway, Portland, OR to see: Tears of Joy's Between Two Worlds

This month's meeting features a performance of one of Tears of Joy's finest shows, Between Two Worlds (The Dybbuk). The performance is at 8:00 pm, and there will be a brief business meeting starting in the lobby at 7:15.

Free tickets will be provided to you for the performance, but you must call and reserve your seats.

To reserve seats and to get directions, please call the Tears of Joy Box Office at (503) 248-0557 or (360) 695-0477 or by e-mail at: info@toj.com.

Olde World Puppet Theatre Branches Out

In a change of pace, the OWPT has been contracted to build a monster for an upcoming movie.

As you can see by our recently finished clay model, carved by Steven M. Overton and Bill Holznagel, he's not something you'd like to see coming out of your closet in the middle of the night.

He will be almost eight feet tall and 18 feet long, built out of sewable foam, neoprene and vacuum formed plastic.

We'll have more pictures as construction begins in the Summer.

UPCOMING CAP MEETINGS

April 19th - We will be participating in Day of Puppetry events down in Albany, Oregon

April 24th - Day of Puppetry review at the OWPT

May 22nd - Election nominations - Workshop at TOJ's Wygant space

June 26th - Election time. Also promised - a preview of an upcoming show. Place to be announced

Tears of Joy Theatre Presents:
Baba Yaga

Did you ever get lost in the woods and then meet a house with giant chicken legs? Marusia did. And you'll never guess what happens next. Follow Marusia as she meets Baba Yaga and is sent on a quest for the magical Black Sunflower where she meets a fire-breathing dragon.

This sparkling musical is a favorite of audiences here and around the world.
